MISSION STATEMENT AND AIMS

The William Alanson White Institute of Psychiatry, Psychoanalysis & Psychology, incorporated under the New York State Education Law on October 18, 1946 as a non-profit Educational Corporation, is an association whose primary function is the training of resourceful psychoanalysts.

The William Alanson White Institute, founded in 1946, is committed to innovation in the theory and practice of Interpersonal Psychonalysis. Our focus is on the person as a social being within the surrounding culture. We train professionals to apply these principles in a broad array of clinical settings with diverse populations. Central to our mission is serving the public with a range of affordable clinical services. We create vibrant programs for professionals and the community at large. We believe that people, through the enhancement of their own capacities, may more fully cope with the problems of living and the challenges of being simply human.

The curriculum takes note of the psychological, socio-cultural and biological factors in human behavior. Taking as its basis the special contributions of two of the Institute’s founders, Harry Stack Sullivan and Erich Fromm, it fosters study of the depths of human experience, focusing on the person as a social being, and on human behavior as interpersonal communication. The significant contributions of Sigmund Freud to the understanding of human behavior, and the vital pre- and post-Freudian developments of the study of personality find a place within the framework of its philosophy.

The Institute’s activities extend beyond the training of psychoanalysts. It has many innovative programs, some as old as the Institute and others of more recent origin, which are described in this Bulletin and more fully in separate literature.

In these manifold functions, the Institute expresses its faith that people, through the enhancement of their own capacities, may more efficiently cope with the fantastic problems of being simply human.
PROGRAMS OF THE WHITE INSTITUTE

The primary and central mission of the White Institute is its psychoanalytic training program. The Institute has also had a long and treasured tradition of educational and humanitarian undertakings and of profound dedication to community and to social issues. The power and excitement of psychoanalysis as well as its applicability to many aspects of human functioning are reflected in the programs described below. Here mission and tradition continue to coalesce to extend the mutative potential of psychoanalysis to ever widening populations.

DIVISION I --

(A) CERTIFICATE PROGRAM IN PSYCHOANALYSIS
(PSYCHOANALYTIC TRAINING FOR “EXEMPT” MENTAL HEALTH PROFESSIONALS)

The program of postgraduate training in psychoanalysis is open to qualified psychiatrists, psychologists, social workers, and other mental health professionals eligible to be licensed in New York State seeking rigorous training in the concepts and methods of psychoanalytic treatment. This program typically requires four-to-six years for completion of all graduation requirements.

(B) LICENSURE-QUALIFYING PROGRAM IN PSYCHOANALYSIS
(PSYCHOANALYTIC TRAINING LEADING TO QUALIFICATION FOR NEW YORK STATE LICENSURE IN PSYCHOANALYSIS)

This program of training in psychoanalysis is open to applicants who have completed a Master’s or higher degree in any field that is registered by the New York State Education Department, or substantially equivalent as determined by the Department of Education. The prescribed course of study is intended to qualify graduates to sit for the New York State licensing examination leading to becoming a “Licensed Psychoanalyst” (“L.P.”) in New York State. The program offers rigorous training in the concepts and methods of psychoanalytic treatment. This program is registered by the New York State Education Department to provide training leading to an advanced certificate in psychoanalysis for candidates who are not licensed in an “exempt” profession and who meet the minimum education requirements for admission. The Licensure-Qualifying Program in Psychoanalysis typically requires five-to-six years for completion of all graduation requirements.

DIVISION II - CENTER FOR APPLIED PSYCHOANALYSIS (CAPsa) - Special Courses

The Center for Applied Psychoanalysis (CAPsa) derives from the Institute’s historical tradition of offering excellent continuing professional education to the wider professional public. CAPsa incorporates a wide variety of teaching modalities and remains responsible to the shifting needs of the professional community.

This continuing education program is open to psychoanalysts, psychiatrists, psychologists, social workers, psychiatric nurses, physicians, clergy and other professionals. Courses are designed to continue the education of professionals whose work will be facilitated by an increased familiarity with psychoanalytic concepts and techniques. This program does not provide training or qualification for the practice of psychoanalysis.
Intensive Psychoanalytic Psychotherapy Program (IPPP) - A One-Year Program

This 28-week program provides a concentrated, practice-oriented educational experience to working clinicians (whose professional license includes providing psychotherapy in its “scope of practice”) who wish to apply an interpersonal psychoanalytic perspective to their work with patients. The program consists of clinical seminars, case conferences, and weekly individual supervision. Applicants are required to carry professional liability insurance and to provide their own psychotherapy patients for supervision. All faculty of about 40 professionals, are graduate psychoanalysts of the William Alanson White Institute.

For the past several years, IPPP has offered an Optional Second Year. This optional second year is for students who have completed the first year program and wish to deepen and expand their knowledge. Further supervision in conducting intensive psychoanalytic psychotherapy will continue to be available for participants whose professional licenses include providing psychotherapy in its "scope of practice". The second year curriculum will also include clinical seminars and clinical case conferences and will be divided into 4 modules. Seminars and case conferences will cover the role of unconscious processes in psychoanalytic psychotherapy, the therapeutic relationship at all stages of treatment, distinguishing interpersonal and relational approaches to therapy, and many other topics. It will culminate in an in-depth look at psychotherapy, in a clinical demonstration by faculty.

This program does not grant a Certificate in Psychoanalysis, and is fully described in a separate brochure. For further information please contact Lori Bohm, Ph.D., Director.

CHILD AND ADOLESCENT PSYCHOTHERAPY TRAINING PROGRAM (CAPTP) - A Three-Year Program

This innovative program combines course work with supervised clinical experience, personal growth, mentorship and opportunities for community involvement and observation. It is open to mental health professionals who are eligible to be licensed in New York State in a profession that includes psychotherapy in its “scope of practice”. Other qualified professionals may register for continuing education coursework in this program without the opportunity for clinical supervision, upon permission of the Director of Admissions. The program is designed to provide comprehensive preparation for treating young people from infancy through late adolescence. The program integrates an interpersonal perspective on theory and treatment techniques with ideas from the classical and relational schools. Course work focuses on understanding the internal world of the child in relation to the family, school and culture and also addresses the gamut of contemporary issues including abuse, adoption, attention deficit disorder, divorce and learning disabilities.

The faculty and supervisors are drawn from graduates of the White Institute and other centers of advanced training, and each one is distinguished by a particular area of expertise. Admission is open to psychiatrists, psychologists, social workers and other qualified individuals from related clinical and education disciplines. For more information please contact: Marcelo Rubin, Ph.D., Director.

FEES

Tuition and fees are payable in advance. Full tuition is required for the first three years. Current tuition for students in CAPTP is $867 per trimester ($2,600 for the academic year). Annual tuition fees are set by the Board of Trustees and are subject to future changes.
DIVISION III - SERVICES OF THE WHITE INSTITUTE

CLINICAL SERVICES

Psychoanalytic Clinic
Psychotherapy & Young Adult Clinic

SPECIALIZED TREATMENT SERVICES:

Autistic Spectrum Service
Eating Disorders, Compulsions & Addictions Service
Later Lifespan Development Service
LGBT Clinical Service
Living with Medical Conditions Service
Psychoanalytic Psychotherapy for Artists
Sexual Abuse Service
Trauma Service

In 1948, the White Institute initiated one of the first its low-cost Psychoanalytic Services in the country. Responding to the changing community needs for therapeutic services, and to the Institute's need for a broadly based training facility, the Services have been continually expanded.

The PSYCHOANALYTIC CLINIC offers psychoanalytic treatment through which patients are seen at least three times weekly. The PSYCHOTHERAPY SERVICE offers once or twice weekly individual therapy. GROUP THERAPY and COUPLES THERAPY are available as needed, through all the Services.

The YOUNG ADULT TREATMENT SERVICE has focused on college students and those in their twenties since the 1960s, when the White Institute received National Institute of Mental Health funding to study factors that led to “dropping out” of college.

The EATING DISORDERS, COMPULSIONS & ADDICTIONS SERVICE was designed to provide meaningful options for patients who have negotiated the early stages of recovery and who want to go beyond behavioral change to the deep shifts in character that psychoanalysis and psychoanalytic psychotherapy offer. The demand for this kind of in-depth treatment has grown as the problems of addiction and compulsion remain embedded in society. Interpersonal perspectives and techniques are particularly cogent in offering opportunities for analytic introspection and character change to patients with a history of addiction. Ancillary clinical services such as group or couples treatment are also offered and a variety of training opportunities (supervision/classes/workshops) are available to qualified and/or licensed mental health professionals, as appropriate, who work in this area.

The LATER LIFESPAN DEVELOPMENT SERVICE offers individual, couples, and group therapy to patients in their fifties, sixties, seventies, eighties and beyond.

The LGBT CLINICAL SERVICE, newly established in 2011, serves the unique needs and problems of lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender patients and their families.

The LIVING WITH MEDICAL CONDITIONS SERVICE mission is to enhance understanding of how the experience of medical illness (acute or chronic) is lived out every day -- whether one is a patient, a family member/close other, or a caregiver. Its clinical services provide individual psychoanalysis/or psychotherapy for adults, children, adolescents, group, couples and families. The Living with Medical Conditions Study Group meets monthly and addresses the issues relevant to working interpersonally with those who have acute or chronic medical conditions. Meetings alternate between case presentations and Dialogues with Invited Guests).

The PSYCHOANALYTIC PSYCHOTHERAPY FOR ARTISTS SERVICE offers a range of services to facilitate creativity and to help with difficulties that interfere with the lives and work of performing and creative artists, based on the conviction that problems such as writer’s block, stage fright, self-undermining behaviors, career changes, and other emotional struggles are best treated with exploratory psychotherapy. Authentic self-expression and emotional responsiveness, common goals both in artistic work and in therapy, are prerequisites for dealing effectively with inner conflicts and personality issues. Psychotherapy and psychoanalysis can contribute not only to a greater emotional aliveness in the artist’s personal life, but also to the vitality and wholeness of the artistic process.

The SEXUAL ABUSE SERVICE serves people with either clear or vague histories of sexual abuse. The sequelae of sexual abuse take many symptomatic forms that can obscure the process of understanding the original trauma. Thus, the treatment of women and men who have been sexually abused requires specialized training. This is evident from the difficulty some clinicians have had negotiating the path between failing to seek for dissociated memories of trauma on the one hand, and giving inappropriate credence to so-called “false memories” on the other. Historically, psychoanalysts have often ignored the reality of incest and sexual abuse, viewing it as fantasy. More recently, this attitude has been changing; the Sexual Abuse Service offers a contemporary psychoanalytic perspective on this neglected area.

The TRAUMA SERVICE provides a venue to foster ongoing understanding of the impact of various forms of trauma on the individual, the group, and for those providing care and consultation for traumatized individuals and groups. Through monthly meetings that provide a forum for discussion, study, support and here-and-now experience, and through focus projects, the Service continues to deepen understanding of trauma and its correlates (dissociation, enactment, intergenerational transmission, vicarious and secondary trauma, resilience, post-traumatic growth). The Trauma Service provides clinical service and consultants to individuals and organizations seeking private referrals.

CHILD AND FAMILY CENTER

The CHILD and FAMILY CENTER offers a supervised experience with child and adolescent psychotherapy to candidates in the psychoanalytic training program and to CAPTP students. The project provides individual treatment to children and adolescents, ages 3-19, after an initial screening procedure which might include sessions with family, school representatives, play sessions with the child, or psychological testing.

CLINIC FELLOWSHIP
The White Institute offers a Clinic Fellowship for first- and second-year candidates who are “exempt” professionals in the Institute’s Division I Certificate Program in Psychoanalysis. The Fellowship is an excellent opportunity for enhanced clinical training and partial subsidy of training expenses. Details are available from the Director of Clinical Services.

CLINICAL CONFERENCES

The clinic holds weekly 90 minute conferences which function as a general forum for presentation of theoretical and clinical material, from Clinical Services and for members of the wider Institute community. Candidates and graduates are invited to attend and to present their own areas of special interest. Candidates are required to present a discussion of their work with a patient from the Psychoanalytic Service. Candidates who hold a Clinic Fellowship are required to present one patient from their clinic psychotherapy practice. A meeting of the clinic fellows is held every Tuesday afternoon for one hour to discuss issues relevant to clinic cases and administrative issues.

Senior Consulting Psychiatrist • Miltiades Zaphiropoulos, M.D.

LOW COST SUPERVISION SERVICE

The White Institute has long been committed to expanding and improving psychotherapeutic services in the wider community. Members of the Institute faculty are available for individual supervision to all mental health professionals whose licensed “scope of practice” includes the private practice of psychotherapy or psychoanalysis. Professionals enrolling in this program are required to maintain professional liability insurance and to provide evidence of current coverage. There is a $100 application fee and ongoing supervision for up to 40 hours is currently billed at $60 per session.

PSYCHIATRY RESIDENCY ROTATIONS

The White Institute provides PGY-4 rotations in psychoanalytic psychotherapy and interpersonal psychoanalytic theory to qualified psychiatric residents. The rotations are designed to meet the interests of individual residents and the requirements of different residency programs. For information please contact Elizabeth Krimendahl, Psy.D., Director of Clinical Services.

THE STUDENT AFFILIATES PROGRAM

The Institute provides undergraduate, graduate and medical students with a variety of opportunities to learn about psychoanalysis and psychotherapy. Affiliates are eligible to attend specified meetings and workshops and to communicate with a graduate psychoanalyst who will serve as an advisor, supervisor, or professional mentor. Interested persons should contact Richard Herman, Director of Administration.

RESEARCH

The psychoanalytic process is recognized as a rich source of observation and hypotheses, yet the application of scientific methods in this area has lagged far behind clinical insights. Graduates and candidates are encouraged to conduct original investigations into the cause, treatment and prevention of mental illness. For appropriate projects, the extensive material provided by the Clinical Services of the Institute is made available so that this vast store of clinical experience can be translated into systematic research findings. Research proposals and projects conducted at the White Institute are subject to prior review and approval by our Institutional Review Board.

Previous projects have included research in: multiple aspects of human development; reversibility of emotional disturbance in pre-school children; emotional health disturbances in pre-school children from disadvantaged backgrounds; longitudinal stability of social-emotional functioning from pre-school to middle childhood; the prediction of intellectual achievement and cognitive functioning in middle childhood from pre-school social-emotional functioning; use of video tapes as an adjunct to the psychotherapy process; the sociology of psychotherapy financed by labor union contract; and cognitive styles of patient and therapist.

The Institute has received grants for research purposes from The Commonwealth Fund, The Foundations' Fund for Research in Psychiatry, The Vivian B. Allen Foundation, The John Lindsley Fund, from other private sources and from The National Institute of Mental Health, United States Public Health Service.

A few select undergraduate and graduate students have been permitted to learn research techniques using coded data under carefully controlled circumstances. These experiences may be credited as externships upon approval of the student’s degree granting institution.
PROGRAM ACCREDITATION

The William Alanson White Institute is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to sponsor continuing medical education for physicians.

The William Alanson White Institute designates this continuing medical education activity for Category 1 of the Physician's Recognition Award of the American Medical Association.

The “Conflict of Interest Policy” of the William Alanson White Institute requires that faculty participating in CE (and CME) activities disclose to the audience any relationship with a pharmaceutical company or any real or apparent conflicts relating to the topics of any educational activity which might pose potential, apparent or real conflict of interest with regard to his or her contribution to the program.

CE credits are calculated on a credit per course hour basis.

The William Alanson White Institute is approved by the American Psychological Association to offer continuing education for psychologists. The Institute maintains responsibility for the program. Credits are awarded on a one credit per course-hour basis and a minimum of 80% attendance is required for courses lasting seven or more sessions. Shorter courses require 100% attendance.

The William Alanson White Institute is an approved provider of Continuing Education under the auspices of the Continuing Education Program of the New York State Chapter of the National Association of Social Workers.

In keeping with the ethical standards of the mental health professions the faculty of the William Alanson White Institute is committed to preserve confidentiality of clinical material whether presented by faculty or students. It is the policy of The White Institute that faculty and sponsors disclose real or apparent conflicts of interest relating to the topics of an educational activity and also disclose discussions of unlabeled/unapproved uses of drugs or devices during their presentation(s), or of any possible significant financial relationships associated with educational activities.

All faculty members are graduate psychoanalysts or specialists in related professions.
PUBLICATIONS

CONTEMPORARY PSYCHOANALYSIS, an international quarterly, is the journal of the William Alanson White Institute and the William Alanson White Psychoanalytic Society. It was created to communicate the views of the psychoanalytic community on contemporary psychoanalytic theory and practice to all who are concerned with understanding human affairs and treating emotional difficulties. The Journal was founded in 1964 by Max Deutscher, Ph.D. and Rose Spiegel, M.D.

Co-Editors: Don Greif, Ph.D. and Ruth Livingston, Ph.D.

Voices@White, the Institute’s forthcoming newsletter, will be published quarterly, in digital format. It reports the clinical, research and teaching functions of the Institute, as well as summaries of papers presented at meetings of the graduate and undergraduate psychoanalytic societies affiliated with the Institute.

Editors: Carola Mann, Ph.D. and Debra Farbman, Ph.D.

THE REVIEW OF INTERPERSONAL PSYCHOANALYSIS is published yearly.

THE REVIEW is a digest of writings on Interpersonal psychoanalytic theory and clinical practice. Both publications are distributed to a wide community in order to make contemporary views available to both non-professionals and professionals.
The Institute has received several gifts and bequests to establish memorials at the White Institute. The donors have made these contributions because they have known and esteemed the work of the Institute and because they believe its vision will endure. Accordingly, the following endowment funds are among those which have been established:

- Erich Fromm Memorial Endowment Fund
- Betty Kuppenheimer Cahn Endowment Fund
- Helen A. Ekstein Memorial Fund
- Roberta Held-Weiss Memorial Fund
- Connie English Memorial Fund
- Jane Michel McGarry Loan Fund
- Judith Harris Selig Memorial Loan Fund
- Marylou Lionells Psychoanalytic Scholarship Endowment Fund
- Benjamin Wolstein Memorial Scholarship Fund
- John Fiscalini Memorial Scholarship Fund

Persons who wish to add to these funds or to establish endowment funds dedicated to specific purposes at the White Institute should contact Richard Herman, Director of Administration.
FACILITIES

The William Alanson White Institute, a well established, prestigious and internationally-renowned psychoanalytic institute, founded in 1943, is now entering its 70th continuous year of operation. The Institute has operated under a New York State Regents Charter since 1946 and its low-cost Psychoanalytic Clinical Service has provided community service as a training facility for its students since 1948. Since 1964, the White Institute has been housed in an architecturally-distinguished landmark Georgian townhouse located at 20 West 74th Street, in Manhattan’s Upper West Side, just off Central Park West. A spacious lobby with a receptionist available from 8 am until 9 pm greets students and other visitors. Automated elevator service is available to all six floors of the Institute, including all of the clinic treatment rooms of the Clinical Services.

The Institute has seven classrooms, 13 treatment rooms, and one auditorium. In addition, the Institute’s building houses its executive offices and support staff. The building is centrally air conditioned and has a wireless network that allows all staff and students to use laptop computers throughout the building and also provides a password-protected intranet for secure electronic communication and full networking of all computer stations and printers available to professional and support staff. Technology support includes a Director of Information Technology and the outside consulting services of an independent contracted technical support team. The White Institute’s website address is: www.wawhite.org

There are several Libraries at the Institute. The largest is on the second floor where the entire room contains books and journals that are available for all students. This specialized psychoanalytic library contains more than two thousand volumes as well as bound volumes of major psychoanalytic journals that are available for reference. A large Library area is also housed on the third floor where books on special subjects (with a large section on developmental issues, children, and adolescents) is also available to students. A small Library located on the fourth floor is also devoted to works concerning children and adolescents. The King Lawrence Parker Library Section on the first floor holds classics in the field; and the Library in the office of the Director of Administration contains all of several hundred books written or edited by White Institute authors and a great many of the books which are cited on course reading lists, held on “reserve”.

The Institute also provides directions for the optional use of “PEPWeb,” the predominant online database of psychoanalytic journal articles (www.pep-web.org), which archives full text versions of every article beginning from Volume 1, Number 1 of twenty-six of the most important and widely-cited English-language psychoanalytic journals as well as full text versions of several dozen classic psychoanalytic books, some out-of-print, and the full text of the “Standard Edition of the Complete Psychological Works of Sigmund Freud”. In addition, the Institute provides online access to Medline, the online database of the National Library of Medicine and to the Google Scholar database of scanned books and journal articles (www.scholar.google.com). Many students also have home or offsite access to online articles through the PEPWeb or other internet services. The large and comprehensive Library at the New York Psychoanalytic Institute is also available to Institute students, at no charge, when needed, as is the research library of the New York Academy of Medicine.

Clinic facilities include the full-time-equivalent presence of the Director of Clinical Services, as well as a Psychiatric Consultant, a part-time Chief Psychiatric Social Worker, a full-time receptionist and administrative assistant, and a Director of Clinical Education, whose responsibilities include overseeing a program of continuing professional education throughout the academic year as well as supervising required clinical presentations by all psychoanalytic candidates. The Clinical Services annually serve a broad segment of the population of the community, including the uninsured, the under-insured, people who are part-time employees, students, and the unemployed. Last year, over 350 families were served, with our students providing supervised clinical services for over 6,500 hours of professional time.

The Institute employs a support staff of ten full-time equivalent employees, including secretarial, administrative, janitorial, building maintenance, and general office staff. One staff member, the Registrar, has primary responsibility for the administrative support of the Division I Programs in Psychoanalysis.
DIVISION I • (A) CERTIFICATE PROGRAM IN PSYCHOANALYSIS

GENERAL INFORMATION

APPLICATION

Application forms for enrollment in the program of training may be obtained from the Registrar, and must be accompanied by a $100 application fee, which is not refundable. Applications are also available on the Institute website at www.wawhite.org. The deadline for application to the training program is February 28th. Special permission is required for late application. Those applying before February 1st may be eligible for early acceptance upon request. A matriculation fee of $800 will be applicable to the first trimester’s tuition and is payable upon acceptance of an applicant as a candidate.

The Certificate Program in Psychoanalysis typically requires four-to-six years to complete all requirements for graduation.

The William Alanson White Institute admits students of any race, color, gender, sexual orientation, national and ethnic origin to all the rights, privileges, programs and activities generally accorded or made available to students at the school. It does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, gender, sexual orientation, national or ethnic origin in administration of its educational policies, fellowship and loan programs, and other school-administered programs. Several courses in the regular curriculum are, under special circumstances, open to qualified non-matriculated professionals upon approval by the Executive Committee. Interested students should contact Ira Moses, Ph.D., A.B.P.P., Director of Training.

FEES

Tuition and fees are payable in advance. Admission to courses will be authorized only when fees are paid and previous indebtedness is discharged, unless arrangements are made with the Business Manager. Students who do not notify the Registrar of inability to attend a course prior to its first session will be charged one-half the fee for the course. After the second session of the course the full tuition fee will be charged.

Full tuition is required for the first four years. Current tuition for candidates in Division I is $1,833 per trimester. Annual tuition fees are set by the Board of Trustees and are subject to future changes. This fee covers all required courses and required electives for each of the first twelve trimesters. Candidates may also enroll in one additional elective course or one course in the Center for Applied Psychoanalysis each semester without payment of additional fees. After four years of training, i.e. twelve trimesters, tuition is reduced by half.

An administrative fee is charged for each trimester a candidate is on leave of absence. Request for full and partial leave of absence requires application to the Director of Training and the approval of the Institute administration.
Candidates are required to pay an annual Reserve Library fee of $175, providing access to the Institute’s online library materials, with their first trimester’s tuition.

Fees for personal psychoanalysis and for psychoanalysis under supervision are determined by mutual arrangement between each candidate and his or her training or supervising analyst. However, fees for psychoanalytic supervision are not to exceed $60 per session.

A transcript of a student’s official record will be sent to other institutions upon written request of the student and will require a service fee of $25.

All checks should be made payable to The William Alanson White Institute.

CERTIFICATES

Candidates who satisfactorily complete the full program of training will be granted the Certificate in Psychoanalysis. The program will ordinarily require four to six years.

Course credit is given only to those who fulfill all requirements and whose absences do not exceed 20 percent of the total hours of each course or when appropriate the guidelines of accrediting organizations will take precedence.

Decision as to successful completion of training is made by a vote of the Council of Fellows, upon recommendation by the Training Committee. As in the case of admission to the program, readiness for graduation is not based solely on scholastic and technical competence. The candidate’s personal and professional integrity, clinical proficiency, soundness of judgment and commitment to the profession will be considered by the Training Committee following completion of all academic requirements.

Certificates are not awarded for studies undertaken in the Center for Applied Psychoanalysis.

FOREIGN STUDENTS

The Institute has been approved by the Attorney General of the United States as an educational institution which may be attended by foreign students under Section 4(e) of the Immigration Act of 1952.

Some foreign students who plan to return to their countries of origin and are unable to complete the required program may obtain limited training in psychoanalysis at the Institute, for which certificates are not awarded.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND LOANS

The Benjamin Wolstein Memorial Scholarship Fund has been established to help defray the costs of training of an outstandingly gifted student in financial need.

The Marylou Lionells Psychoanalytic Scholarship Endowment Fund was created to encourage a broad spectrum of meritorious professionals, who might otherwise have been unable to do so, to pursue psychoanalytic training.

The Judith Harris Selig Memorial Fund has established a revolving educational loan fund to defray expenses of training for needy candidates. It is intended to aid worthy applicants whose financial resources are inadequate. Applications for a loan from this fund should be in the form of a letter to the Director.

The Jane Michel McGarry Revolving Loan Fund has been established as an educational fund to defray expenses of training. It is intended to aid worthy psychologists whose financial resources are inadequate. Applications for a loan from this fund should be in the form of a letter to the Director.

Catherine Stuart Memorial Fund was established in memory of Catherine Stuart, Ph.D., an Institute graduate with a special interest in enhancing diversity among Institute candidates. The Catherine Stuart Memorial Fund is not administered by the Institute. Currently, its funds are utilized only to support first-year candidates in the Certificate Programs in Psychoanalysis. Inquiries and applications should be addressed to: William D. Lubart, Ph.D.
<doclubart@gmail.com>

Veterans Administration Benefits are available to eligible students.

Inquiries should be addressed to Richard Herman, Director of Administration.

AWARDS AND GRANTS

The Lawrence W. Kaufman Award of $500 is presented to a member of the graduating class who writes a paper judged by a special committee to be worthy of this prize. Papers must be submitted to the Director by June 1 of the year following graduation.

The Harry Stack Sullivan Society Award of $300 is presented annually for the best unpublished paper, submitted by a candidate in training, on a topic related to problems encountered in psychoanalysis. Details may be obtained from the President of the Sullivan Society.

CONTINUING EDUCATION ACCREDITATION:

The William Alanson White Institute is approved by the American Psychological Association to offer continuing education for psychologists. The WAWI maintains responsibility for the program. Credits are awarded on a credit per course-hour basis and 100% attendance is required to certify continuing education credit for psychologists seeking APA-approved CE credits.

The William Alanson White Institute is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to sponsor Continuing Medical Education for physicians.

The William Alanson White Institute designates this continuing medical education activity for Category I of the Physicians Recognition Award of the American Medical Association.

The William Alanson White Institute is an approved provider of Continuing Education under the auspices of the Continuing Education Program of the New York State Chapter of the National Association of Social Workers.

It is the policy of The White Institute that faculty and sponsors disclose real or apparent conflicts of interest relating to the topics of an educational activity and also disclose discussions of unlabeled/unapproved uses of drugs or devices during their presentation(s), or of any possible significant financial relationships associated with educational activities.
NON DISCRIMINATORY POLICY:

The White Institute has - throughout its history - promoted institutional diversity and pluralism in every aspect of its functioning including, staff hiring, selecting participants and faculty, and developing content for all programs including CE programs. The Institute’s non-discrimination policy applies to the entire Institute community, including faculty, staff, organizational groups, administrative units, Institute sponsored activities and the like. Discrimination against any Institute community member or participant on the basis of age, color, gender, disability status, height, weight, marital status, national origin, political persuasion, race, religion, sexual orientation, veteran status, is prohibited.
DIVISION I • (A) CERTIFICATE PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS

ELIGIBILITY FOR MATRICULATION

The William Alanson White Institute is committed to offering psychoanalytic training to highly motivated, exceptional individuals from a variety of disciplines and backgrounds. Eligible applicants must meet all current criteria for admission, including New York State licensed or license-eligible (or eligible for a “limited permit”) in one of the professions that includes psychoanalysis in its statutory “scope of practice.”

Psychiatrist - ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS: Matriculation as a candidate for the Certificate in Psychoanalysis is open to graduates of medical schools who have completed at least one year of psychiatric residency. Upon admission, psychiatrists will be required to present a New York State license, and evidence of current professional liability insurance, in order to be granted permission to conduct supervised clinical work with patients.

CONCURRENT REQUIREMENTS: Four years of approved psychiatry residency must be completed prior to graduation. This must include at least three months experience in an out-patient department or mental health clinic. Successful completion of this program provides eligibility for Fellowship in The American Academy of Psychoanalysis and Dynamic Psychiatry.

Psychologist - ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS: Matriculation as a candidate for the Certificate in Psychoanalysis is open to applicants with a doctoral level degree in Psychology. In addition, the applicant must have completed a one-year clinical internship. Additional supervised clinical work will be reviewed by the Admissions Committee. Upon admission, psychologists will be required to present a New York State license or limited permit, and evidence of current professional liability insurance, in order to be granted permission to conduct supervised clinical work with patients.

Successful completing of this program provides eligibility for the American Board of Psychoanalysis in Psychology Diplomate examination.

Clinical Social Worker - ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS: Matriculation as a candidate for the Certificate in Psychoanalysis will be open to Certified Social Workers who have a doctoral degree in clinical social work from an accredited program which includes a two-year clinical internship or who have a masters’ degree in social work and are New York State Licensed Clinical Social Workers (“L.C.S.W.”) or New York State Licensed Master Social Workers (“L.M.S.W.”). In addition, the applicant will require supervised post-master’s clinical practice. Upon admission, clinical social workers will be required to present a current New York State license, and evidence of current professional liability insurance, in order to be granted permission to conduct supervised clinical work with patients.

Outstanding applicants who do not meet the above criteria will be evaluated on a case-by-case basis; they may be eligible to apply to the Institute’s Licensure-Qualifying Program in Psychoanalysis [Division I(B)], described below.

REQUIRED CLINICAL TRAINING

Personal Psychoanalysis: Each candidate is required to undergo personal psychoanalysis as a means of attaining freedom from personality factors that would interfere with the ability to conduct psychoanalytic treatment. This analysis must be undertaken with an approved Training Analyst of the Institute. Applicants who are engaged in an ongoing, productive treatment with a White Institute graduate (at least five years post-graduation) may apply to the Training Committee for a waiver of this requirement and permission to continue their personal analysis with their analyst in fulfillment of the training analysis requirement. Arrangements for analysis must be made by the candidate upon acceptance by the Institute and should begin no later than October 1st of the first academic year of candidacy. The Training Analysis must be at the rate of at least 3 sessions per week for the first 300 hours. Subsequent frequency and duration are up to the candidate and analyst. The Training Committee may suggest an intensification of or return to analysis if this seems indicated by the quality of the candidate’s work. In order to preserve the integrity of the analysis, the candidate’s analyst is expressly excluded from participation in any administrative decisions regarding his/her analysand.

Psychoanalysis Under Supervision: Clinical work with four patients, each of whom is seen at least three times weekly, under the direction of at least three supervising analysts of the Institute for a minimum of 200 supervision hours total, is required. This requirement must be met prior to June 1 of the year of graduation. Each supervisor must be seen for a minimum of 40 hours, but not more than 80 hours, if credit is to be given. A different patient should be presented to each supervisor. Fees for psychoanalytic supervision are to be arranged between the candidate and the supervising analyst. Fees are not to exceed $60 per session.

The first psychoanalytic case will be referred by the Psychoanalytic Service of the Clinical Services. This patient must be seen for a minimum of 240 hours at a frequency of at least three times weekly and supervised weekly during that period by a Supervising Analyst. In unusual or exceptional circumstances, and only with the prior consent of the Director of Training and the Director of Clinical Services, a private patient from the candidate’s practice may be substituted for the clinic case, with fees for 240 hours paid to the Institute; this case must be transferred to the clinic and this requires both the submission of a clinic application from the patient and screening by the Director of Clinical Services. All fees from the first psychoanalytic case referred from the Clinical Services are retained by the Clinical Services. If the patient terminates the treatment prematurely, or before the minimum 240 hours has been reached, the candidate may combine another patient’s psychoanalytic hours until the total number of psychoanalytic hours contributed to the Clinical Services reaches 240 hours.

If the first psychoanalytic case terminates treatment or reduces frequency to fewer than three sessions weekly, the candidate must begin work with a new psychoanalytic case. (If the terminated case has been seen for at least 120 hours at a minimum frequency of three times weekly, the case can be used toward fulfillment of the psychoanalytic case requirements for subsequent cases.) Supervision on the first psychoanalytic case should include a minimum of 80 hours of supervision, either with one Supervising Analyst or with two Supervising Analysts for a minimum of 40 hours of supervision with each.

Barring extraordinary circumstances, the candidate will carry the analysis to completion. If the treatment extends beyond the 240 hours, the therapist will transfer the patient to his/her private practice. Treatment will be at least three times a week for the first two years, and as frequently thereafter as necessary. (Additional patients for supervision are the responsibility of the candidate. Patients may be acquired from the Psychoanalytic Service when available, although these will be referred to the candidate’s private practice from the start.) A prerequisite for undertaking psychoanalysis under supervision is approval by the Director of Training. Prior to requesting approval, the candidate must have completed one trimester of course work and be in personal psychoanalysis.

Additional Psychoanalytic Cases (beyond the first case): Additional psychoanalytic cases need to be seen for a minimum of 120 hours at a minimum frequency of three times weekly. Supervising Analysts need to be seen for a minimum of 40 hours for each case in order for credit toward graduation requirements to be fulfilled.

Though hours of treatment cannot be combined to compensate for patients who terminate treatment prematurely or before the minimum required hours have been completed, a candidate may apply to the Training Committee for graduation on the basis of “equivalence” if their work includes one case that falls short of the graduation requirement.

Gender Diversity Requirement: At least one of the required psychoanalytic cases and one of the candidate’s Supervising Analysts must be of opposite gender of the candidate.

Duration of Supervision Requirement: All candidates are required to continue supervision until graduation. Each psychoanalytic supervision for credit must be on a weekly basis on only one continuous case.

Psychotherapy Requirement: Candidates who do not participate in the Clinic Fellowship need to contribute a minimum of 80 hours of psychotherapy to the Clinical Services. These hours may be accrued by treating one patient on a twice-weekly basis or two patients on a weekly basis, for one year. Candidates are credited $25 per patient hour to an account that may be used to offset training expenses.

This requirement can be met by individual psychotherapy (adult, adolescent, or child), special modalities of therapy (group, family, or couples), or participation in a clinical project. The Psychotherapy Requirement provides candidates with the opportunity to apply psychoanalytic knowledge to a different form of treatment. This work will be supervised weekly, at no charge to candidates, by a Supervisor of Psychotherapy chosen by the candidate from the Institute’s list of Supervisors of Psychotherapy. This requirement must be fulfilled prior to June 1 of the year of anticipated graduation. Some candidates may provide additional psychotherapy as part of the Clinic Fellowship. If a candidate wants to transfer a patient from the Psychotherapy Service to the Psychoanalytic Service, s/he must engage a new Supervising Analyst for the psychoanalytic treatment; the Supervisor of Psychotherapy may not continue as the Supervising Analyst.

REQUIRED COURSES

All required work must be completed within six years unless an extension is granted by the Director of Training. When the required curriculum has been completed, candidates must take three elective courses per year. Clinical Case Seminars are strongly recommended. Candidates are permitted to change the sequence of certain courses if they feel it will be helpful in their training. If a variation in sequence is desired, candidates should contact the Director of Curriculum. If personal issues require a candidate to limit time commitments or otherwise alter the curriculum, individual arrangements may be made through the Director of Curriculum.

COURSE SCHEDULE

Trimesters are 10 weeks long. The first trimester begins after Labor Day. The second trimester begins in November. The third trimester begins in March.
Courses are not scheduled on Rosh Hashanah, Yom Kippur, or the eve of Passover. There is a three week break from December to January. Additionally, the Institute is closed on all legal holidays.

CROSS-REGISTRATION IN OTHER INSTITUTE TRAINING PROGRAMS

Candidates in Division I are eligible to enroll in courses in the Institute’s Child & Adolescent Psychotherapy Training Program upon approval of an application to do so. Candidates seeking to cross-register must apply to the Director of Training who will convey this request to the Director of Training of the Child & Adolescent Psychotherapy Training Program, who will in turn confer with that Program’s Director of Curriculum and the course instructor. Decisions will be made on an individual basis and will consider any issues relevant to the particular class and its composition.

No additional fees are charged for cross-registration.

GRIEVANCE PROCEDURE

The White Institute’s formal grievance policy provides that when a participant expresses a grievance (either orally or in writing) requesting that the Institute take action, the following procedures are followed:

1. If a grievance falls within the domain of the Division I curriculum, this grievance will be referred to the Institute’s standing Curriculum Committee. The Institute’s Director of Curriculum may address the complaint him/herself or may confer with other department Directors. Some grievances may eventually be brought to the Institute’s Executive Committee which will seek an equitable disposition of the grievance. The Executive Committee will formulate a response to the complaint and recommend action, if necessary. Such recommended action will be conveyed directly to the complainant by the Executive Committee, if appropriate. The Institute will make every attempt to keep the complainant apprised of deliberations concerning the grievance and to attempt to ameliorate the difficulty.

2. If a grievance concerns the Institute’s clinical services, including a grievance expressed by a consumer of these services, the grievance shall be presented to the Institute’s Director of Clinical Services, who will investigate the complaint, consulting with the patient/consumer, the student, and the student’s supervising analyst or supervisor of psychotherapy. The Director of Clinical Services will consult with the Director of the Institute (on a confidential basis) to report all such grievances and, in collaboration with the Director, will formulate a response to the complainant. When indicated, the Director and the Director of Clinical Services will seek the consultation of the Institute’s Executive Committee. The Director of Clinical Services will have the primary responsibility for monitoring the ethical conduct of clinical services by students and their supervisors. The complainant will be advised directly by the Director of Clinical Services of his/her investigation of the grievance and the Institute’s proposed resolution.

3. The Institute’s grievance policy requires that all grievances be addressed in a timely fashion. The Institute will seek legal counsel as indicated if grievances cannot be resolved informally. The student, consumer, or faculty member who initiated the grievance will then be informed of the status of his/her complaint at all levels of investigation and resolution. Confidential records of all grievances will be kept in a locked file in the White Institute’s Executive Offices and written copies of Grievance Procedures will be available upon request.
DIVISION I • (B) LICENSURE-QUALIFYING PROGRAM IN PSYCHOANALYSIS

GENERAL INFORMATION

This program of training in psychoanalysis is open to applicants who have completed a Master’s or higher degree in any field that is registered by the New York State Education Department, or substantially equivalent as determined by the Department of Education. The prescribed course of study is intended to qualify graduates to sit for the New York State licensing examination leading to becoming a “Licensed Psychoanalyst” (“L.P.”) in New York State. The program offers rigorous training in the concepts and methods of psychoanalytic treatment. This program is registered by the New York State Education Department to provide training leading to an advanced certificate in psychoanalysis for candidates who are not licensed in an “exempt” profession and who meet the minimum education requirements for admission.

The Licensure-Qualifying Program in Psychoanalysis typically requires five-to-six years in order to fulfill all graduation requirements.

APPLICATION

Application forms for enrollment in the program of training may be obtained from the Registrar, and must be accompanied by a $100 application fee, which is not refundable. Applications are also available on the Institute website at www.wawhite.org. The deadline for application to the training program is February 28th. Special permission is required for late application. Those applying before February 1st may be eligible for early acceptance upon request. A matriculation fee of $800 will be applicable to the first trimester’s tuition and is payable upon acceptance of an applicant as a candidate.

Application will require several personal interviews in addition to submission of credentials and recommendation. (Some applicants who are not accepted may reapply on the recommendation of the Director of Training.)

The William Alanson White Institute admits students of any race, color, gender, sexual orientation, national and ethnic origin to all the rights, privileges, programs and activities generally accorded or made available to students at the school. It does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, gender, sexual orientation, national or ethnic origin in administration of its educational policies, fellowship and loan programs, and other school-administered programs.

Several courses in the regular curriculum are, under special circumstances, open to qualified non-matriculated professionals upon approval by the Executive Committee. Interested students should contact Ira Moses, Ph.D., Director of Training.

FEES

Institute tuition and fees are payable in advance, except for supervisory fees, which are payable as incurred. Admission to courses will be authorized only when fees and previous indebtedness are paid, unless such arrangements are made with the Business Manager in advance. Students who do not notify the Registrar of inability to attend a course prior to its first session will be charged one-half the fee for the course. After the second session of the course the full tuition fee will be charged.

Full tuition is required for the first four years. Current coursework tuition is $1,833 per trimester, billed each trimester; the academic year is divided into trimesters and it is normally expected that students will register for three consecutive trimesters in each academic year. This fee covers all required courses and required electives for each of the first twelve trimesters. Candidates may also enroll in one additional elective course or one course in the Center for Applied Psychoanalysis each semester without payment of additional fees. Tuition and other fees are subject to periodic review by the Board of Trustees.

After four years of training, i.e. twelve trimesters, coursework tuition is reduced by half.

An administrative fee is charged for each trimester a candidate is on leave of absence.

Candidates are required to pay an annual fee of $175 for library use, including the Reserve Library. This fee will be billed with the first trimester’s tuition.

Candidates will pay to the Institute all fees for coursework and supervised experience completed as part of the education program. Fees for psychoanalysis under supervision will be included in tuition fees charged by the Institute (in addition to coursework tuition), as incurred, and according to a schedule based on the current fees of Supervising Analysts. Although these fees may be determined by mutual arrangement between each candidate and the supervising analyst, the fees will be paid to the Institute as part of required tuition, and not to the Supervising Analyst directly. It is the responsibility of the Institute to pay Supervising Analysts, who will be paid according to the schedule of current fees, but only when they have been paid by the candidate. However, fees for psychoanalytic supervision are not to exceed $60 per session.

A transcript of a student’s official record will be sent to other institutions upon written request of the student and will require a service fee of $25.

All checks should be made payable to The William Alanson White Institute. The Institute also accepts payment by credit card (Visa, MasterCard, and American Express).

CERTIFICATES

Candidates who satisfactorily complete the full program of training will be granted the License-Qualifying Program’s Certificate in Psychoanalysis. The program will ordinarily require five to six years to complete.

Although the Licensure-Qualifying Program in Psychoanalysis is designed to enable its graduates to sit for the New York State licensing examination in Psychoanalysis, the Institute does not grant State licenses. Questions about procedures for seeking New York State Licensure in Psychoanalysis should be directed to the State Department of Education: http://www.op.nysed.gov/prof/mhp/psyanlllic.htm

Course credit is given only to those who fulfill all requirements and whose absences do not exceed 20 percent of the total hours of each course or when appropriate the guidelines of accrediting organizations will take precedence.
Decision as to successful completion of training is made by a vote of the Council of Fellows, upon recommendation by the Training Committee. As in the case of admission to the program, readiness for graduation is not based solely on scholastic and technical competence. The candidate’s personal and professional integrity, clinical proficiency, soundness of judgment and commitment to the profession will be considered by the Training Committee following completion of all academic requirements.

Certificates are not awarded for studies undertaken in the Institute’s Center for Applied Psychoanalysis, as that program is not designed to provide instruction or training in psychoanalysis.

FOREIGN STUDENTS

The Institute has been approved by the Attorney General of the United States as an educational institution that may be attended by foreign students under Section 4(e) of the Immigration Act of 1952.

Some foreign students who plan to return to their countries of origin and are unable to complete the required program may obtain limited training in psychoanalysis at the Institute, for which certificates are not awarded, provided that their credentials are the substantial equivalent of those required of applicants to the program. The Institute requires that World Education Services (www.wes.org) provide an evaluation of the academic credentials of prospective applicants from foreign countries for equivalency to U.S. academic preparation. However, this credential evaluation is for the internal use of the White Institute’s Admissions Committee only; it does not fulfill the requirement of the New York State Education Department (SED) for eligibility to enroll in a Licensure-Qualifying Program or to sit for the licensing examination in Psychoanalysis.

According to New York State Education Department regulations, in order to be admitted to a licensure-qualifying program in psychoanalysis, the Licensure-Qualifying Program in Psychoanalysis must determine that you received a master’s degree in any field from a program registered by the Education Department or regionally accredited. Students should arrange to have Form 2A submitted directly from their graduate program to the SED: http://www.op.nysed.gov/prof/mhp/psyanlforms.htm

The New York State Education Department (SED) requires that applicants to the Licensure-Qualifying Program in Psychoanalysis possess academic credentials, at the minimum, of a master’s degree from a program registered with the SED, or its equivalent, as determined by the Office of the Professions. Applicants with international credentials must submit to the Office of the Professions qualified translations, according to the criteria below. The Office of the Professions does not accept third-party evaluations of credentials, and will perform its own evaluation, which is done solely to determine whether specific New York licensing requirements have been met. Information about qualified translation of foreign credentials is on the SED website: http://www.op.nysed.gov/prof/translations.htm

LOANS AND SCHOLARSHIPS

The Judith Harris Selig Memorial Fund has established a revolving educational loan fund to defray expenses of training for needy candidates. It is intended to aid worthy applicants whose financial resources are inadequate. Applications for a loan from this fund should be in the form of a letter to the Director.
The Jane Michel McGarry Revolving Loan Fund has been established as an educational fund to defray expenses of training. It is intended to aid worthy psychologists whose financial resources are inadequate. Applications for a loan from this fund should be in the form of a letter to the Director.

The Benjamin Wolstein Memorial Scholarship Fund has been established to help defray the costs of training of an outstandingly gifted student in financial need.

The Marylou Lionells Psychoanalytic Scholarship Endowment Fund was created to encourage a broad spectrum of meritorious professionals, who might otherwise have been unable to do so, to pursue psychoanalytic training.

Catherine Stuart Memorial Fund was established in memory of Catherine Stuart, Ph.D., an Institute graduate with a special interest in enhancing diversity among Institute candidates. The Catherine Stuart Memorial Fund is not administered by the Institute. Currently, its funds are utilized only to support first-year candidates in the Certificate Programs in Psychoanalysis. Inquiries and applications should be addressed to: William D. Lubart, Ph.D. <doclubart@gmail.com>

Veterans Administration Benefits are available to eligible students. Inquiries should be addressed to Richard Herman, Director of Administration.

AWARDS AND GRANTS

The Lawrence W. Kaufman Award of $500 is presented to a member of the graduating class who writes a paper judged by a special committee to be worthy of this prize. Papers must be submitted to the Director by June 1 of the year following graduation.

The Harry Stack Sullivan Society Award of $300 is presented annually for the best unpublished paper, submitted by a candidate in training, on a topic related to problems encountered in psychoanalysis. Details may be obtained from the President of the Harry Stack Sullivan Society, the candidate professional organization.

CONTINUING EDUCATION ACCREDITATION:

The William Alanson White Institute is approved by the American Psychological Association to offer continuing education for psychologists. The WAWI maintains responsibility for the program. Credits are awarded on a credit per course-hour basis and 80% attendance is required.

The William Alanson White Institute is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to sponsor Continuing Medical Education for physicians.

The William Alanson White Institute designates this continuing medical education activity for Category I of the Physicians Recognition Award of the American Medical Association.

The William Alanson White Institute is an approved provider of Continuing Education under the auspices of the Continuing Education Program of the New York State Chapter of the National Association of Social Workers.

It is the policy of The White Institute that faculty and sponsors disclose real or apparent conflicts of interest relating to the topics of this educational activity and also disclose discussions of unlabeled/unapproved uses of drugs or devices during their presentation(s).

NON DISCRIMINATORY POLICY:

Discrimination against any Institute community member or participant on the basis of age, color, gender, disability status, height, weight, marital status, national origin, political persuasion, race, religion, sexual orientation, veteran status, is prohibited.
DIVISION I • (B) LICENSURE-QUALIFYING PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS

ELIGIBILITY FOR MATRICULATION

The William Alanson White Institute is committed to offering psychoanalytic training to highly motivated, exceptional individuals from a variety of disciplines and backgrounds, in addition to its traditional Division I (Program A) Certificate Program in Psychoanalysis providing postgraduate training to psychiatrists, clinical psychologists, and clinical social workers. The Licensure-Qualifying Program in Psychoanalysis (Division I – Program B) reflects the Institute’s commitment to providing such training opportunities. This program is registered as a “license-qualifying program” by the New York State Education Department. The Licensure-Qualifying Program in Psychoanalysis typically requires five- to six-years for the completion of all training requirements.

Questions about eligibility to apply for training in the Division I Licensure-Qualifying Program may be directed to the coordinator of training in this program, Sharon Kofman, Ph.D. <s.kofman@wawhite.org>. Questions about Institute compliance with N.Y.S. law and regulations can be addressed to the Director of the Licensure Qualifying Program, Stefan Zicht, Psy.D. <srz2@rcn.com>.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Matriculation as a candidate for the Licensure-Qualifying Program in Psychoanalysis is open to applicants who have completed graduate study and earned a master’s degree or higher in any field that is registered by the New York State Education Department or substantially equivalent as determined by the Department.

Successful completion of this program provides eligibility to sit for the licensing examination to become a New York State “Licensed Psychoanalyst” (“L.P.”).

REQUIRED CLINICAL TRAINING

Personal Psychoanalysis: Each candidate is required to undergo personal psychoanalysis as a means of attaining freedom from personality factors which would interfere with the ability to conduct psychoanalytic treatment. The personal psychoanalyst shall be selected by the student – not the Institute – and the student is responsible for payment of fees for this personal psychoanalysis. The Institute maintains a list of approved Training Analysts, including Training Analysts who have indicated their availability to treat candidates at reduced fees (providing they have available time and that there is financial need on the part of the candidate.) The personal Training Analyst is responsible for verifying to the Institute the completion of the required hours. The Institute shall set the requirements for a personal Training Analyst and may review the qualifications of an analyst selected by a candidate. Criteria established for the list of acceptable Training Analysts includes licensure and registration in a profession established under Title VIII of the New York State Education Law and competence to practice psychoanalysis.

Arrangements for analysis must be made by the candidate upon acceptance by the Institute and should begin no later than October 1st of the first academic year of candidacy. New York State Education Law and Regulations require at least 300 hours of personal psychoanalysis. The Training Analysis must be at the rate of at least 3 sessions per week for the first 300 hours, of which at least 45 minutes of the hour constitute direct contact between the student and psychoanalyst, supplemented with 10- or 15-minutes of reflection and record-keeping by the psychoanalyst. Subsequent frequency and duration are up to the candidate and analyst. The Training Committee may suggest an intensification of or return to analysis if this seems indicated by the quality of the candidate’s work. In order to preserve the integrity of the analysis, the candidate’s analyst is expressly excluded from participation in any administrative decisions regarding his/her analysand.

The Institute does not have the authority or responsibility to establish the fees paid to personal analysts. In order to assist prospective candidates in estimating the cost of education in psychoanalysis, the Institute will provide a reasonable range of fees charged by Training Analysts. A substantial number of Institute Training Analysts have agreed to provide reduced fees for candidates completing the personal analysis as part of the education program when there is financial need for a fee reduction.

Psychoanalysis Under Supervision: Clinical work with four patients, each of whom is seen at least three times weekly, under the direction of at least three supervising analysts of the Institute for a minimum of 200 “supervision hours” (of 45-minutes each) total, is required. The Institute retains responsibility for all supervised work, including assignment of all supervising analysts, who are responsible for the patients to be seen by the candidate under supervision. All supervised practice must be in accordance with New York State laws and State Education Department regulations. The supervisor is responsible for ensuring compliance and upon satisfaction of the education requirements, should eventually report to the State Board on Form 4B all supervised practice hours that may be counted toward licensure.

Candidates may commence their clinical work in psychoanalysis upon approval of the Training Committee. Prior to requesting the approval of the Training Committee, the candidate must have completed a minimum of two trimesters of course work and be engaged in personal psychoanalysis (at least three sessions weekly).

Institute requirements for psychoanalysis under supervision must be distributed as follows: the first psychoanalytic supervisor must be seen for a minimum of 50 weekly sessions, on a single case; the second psychoanalytic supervisor must be seen for a minimum of 100 weekly sessions with one or more additional cases; the third and subsequent psychoanalytic supervisors must be seen for a minimum of 40 sessions each. All supervision sessions will be for a minimum of 45 minutes, with 10-15 minutes of reflection and record-keeping by supervisor and candidate. Supervisory requirements must be met prior to June 1 of the year of graduation. Each supervisor must be seen for a minimum of 40 sessions, but not more than 80 sessions if credit is to be given. A different patient should be presented to each supervisor. Fees for psychoanalytic supervision are to be paid directly to the Institute, as part of Institute tuition, according to the current schedule of fees for the Supervising Analyst. Supervising Analysts will be paid directly by the Institute, not by the candidate in training. Fees are not to exceed $60 per session.

The Institute will provide students with a list of approved Supervising Analysts and other approved Supervisors who are affiliated with the Institute and evaluate candidates. Supervising Analysts of the White Institute are all trained as psychoanalysts and are graduates of one of the White Institute’s Certificate Programs in Psychoanalysis. Each Supervising Analyst is licensed to practice in one of the “exempt” professions in New York State whose “scope of practice” includes psychoanalysis or who is licensed under Article 163 as a “psychoanalyst”. The current list of approved Supervising Analysts and other Supervisors of the Institute will indicate which of these supervisors are Licensed Psychoanalysts (“L.P.”). In addition, The White Institute appoints Supervising Analysts in a selective process that requires each to present clinical supervisory work to a standing committee of the Institute charged with the appointment of graduates to such roles, on the basis of demonstrated competence to provide clinical supervision of psychoanalysis to candidates in training. Supervising Analysts are assigned to the candidate within guidelines established by the Institute’s Training Committee.

All psychoanalytic cases seen by candidates enrolled in the Institute’s Licensure-Qualifying Program in Psychoanalysis will be referred by the Psychoanalytic Service of the Institute’s Clinical Services and seen under the auspices of the Clinical Services. The first patient must be seen for a minimum of 240 hours and supervised weekly during that period by a supervising analyst. Barring extraordinary circumstances, the candidate will carry the analysis to completion. Treatment will be at least three times a week for the first two years, and as frequently thereafter as necessary. All cases under supervision must be assigned by the Institute, which delegates responsibility for the treatment of cases that are seen in the Psychoanalytic Service to the Supervising Analysts who are responsible for all patients seen by candidates under supervision. A prerequisite for undertaking psychoanalysis under supervision is approval by the Director of Training. Prior to requesting approval, the candidate must have completed at least two trimesters of course work and be in personal psychoanalysis. Each candidate is required to treat at least four cases, for a minimum of three sessions weekly, under the direction of at least three supervising analysts, for a total of at least 600 sessions of supervised psychoanalytic treatment.

All supervised psychoanalysis must be done on site in accordance with the regulations of the New York State Education Department, at the Institute’s low-cost Psychoanalytic Service. Private offices of students matriculated in the Institute’s Licensure-Qualifying Program (Division I -- Program B) are not acceptable settings in which students may complete the required hours of supervised practice, even for those students who might be licensed in other professions whose scope of practice includes psychoanalysis. Likewise, all clinical supervision must be done in accordance with the New York State Education Department’s regulations. A qualified Supervising Analyst must be on site when the student is practicing psychoanalysis.

Psychotherapy Under Supervision: Each candidate is required to conduct a minimum of 80 45-minute hours of psychotherapy in the Clinical Services. The requirement can be met by individual psychotherapy (adult or child), special modalities of therapy (group, family, couples), or participation in a clinical project.

The psychotherapy requirement provides candidates with the opportunity to apply psychoanalytic knowledge to a different form of treatment. The psychotherapy requirement may not begin prior to the completion of education requirements for license eligibility including the completion of all requirements for psychoanalysis under supervision. Supervision will be provided weekly, at no charge, by a Supervisor of Psychotherapy chosen by the candidate. This supervision will be provided by a qualified supervisor, in order to count toward licensure, and verification of these supervisory hours must be provided by the supervisor on Form 4B to the New York State Education Department at the appropriate time. This requirement must be met prior to June 1 of the year of graduation.

A candidate would not qualify for a permit to practice psychoanalysis under supervision until the education requirements have been met and approved by the New York State Education Department, and this additional clinical experience is not part of the licensure-qualifying program. A patient being seen in psychotherapy who wishes to be seen in psychoanalysis may be referred to psychoanalysis on the basis of a decision made by the patient and a licensed supervisor, not by a candidate or permit holder (who may not independently treat or transfer patients). This decision should be made by the patient in accordance with acceptable practices for referring patients and informed consent by the patient.

Required Clinical Seminar: All first-year candidates in Division I(B) – License-Qualifying Program in Psychoanalysis are required to participate in a clinical seminar program on Tuesdays from 10:00 am – 3:00 pm for each of the fall, winter, and spring trimesters. Second-year candidates participate in a clinical seminar program on Tuesdays from 10:00 am – 2:00 pm. These seminars will increase the candidate’s exposure to interpersonal clinical theory and treatment.

These candidates are required to attend the Clinical Services Meeting (from 10:00 am – 11:30 am), the Proseminar in Conceptualizing Interpersonal Treatment (from 11:45 am – 12:45 pm); Clinic Fellows Seminar (1:00 pm – 2:00 pm), and the Postdoctoral Clinical Seminar (2:00 pm – 3:00 pm).

RECORD-KEEPING REQUIREMENTS

Students in this program will be required to maintain a record for each of their patients. The record must accurately reflect the evaluation and treatment of that patient. Unless otherwise provided by law, all patient records must be kept for at least six years. Records for children must be kept until the child is 22, even if that means keeping the records for more than six years. Failure to comply with such requirements could result in charges of professional misconduct.

BOUNDARIES OF PROFESSIONAL COMPETENCE

New York State law governing the practice of psychoanalysis by Licensed Psychoanalysts requires that the provision of mental health services for “serious mental illness” on a continuous and sustained basis requires a medical evaluation of the illness by, and consultation with, a physician regarding such illness, in order to determine and advise whether any medical care is indicated for such illness. “Serious mental illness” is defined by law as including schizophrenia, schizoaffective disorder, bipolar disorder, major depressive disorder, panic disorder, obsessive-compulsive disorder, attention-deficit hyperactivity disorder and autism. The Institute provides opportunities to consult with a physician to candidates in our Licensure-Qualifying Program in Psychoanalysis.

REQUIRED COURSES

Required coursework comprises classroom instruction in each of the following areas, prescribed by the New York State Department of Education: personality development; psychoanalytic theory of psychopathology; psychoanalytic theory of psychodiagnosis; sociocultural influences on growth and psychopathology; practice technique (including dreams and symbolic processes); analysis of resistance, transference, and countertransference; case seminars on clinical practice; practice in psychopathology and psychodiagnosis; professional ethics and psychoanalytic research methodology. The White Institute’s curricular requirements exceed the New York State minimum requirements and currently comprise more than 540 hours of classroom instruction.

The White Institute requires that all candidates enrolled in the Division I Licensure Qualifying Program complete the six “700 series” courses described in the “Course Descriptions” beginning
In addition, in accordance with New York State Education Law as applicable to all professionals seeking New York State licensure as a “Licensed Psychoanalyst,” all matriculants are required to complete at least two (2) clock hours of training in the identification and reporting of child abuse and maltreatment.

All required work must be completed within six years unless an extension is granted by the Director of Training. In addition to the completion of required courses in the sequential curriculum, if additional requirements for graduation (such as supervised clinical hours) have not yet been completed, candidates must take three elective courses per year. Clinical Case Seminars are strongly recommended in fulfillment of this additional requirement. The advanced certificate can only be awarded when all graduation requirements are completed. Candidates are permitted to change the sequence of certain courses if they feel it will be helpful in their training. If a variation in sequence is desired, candidates should contact the Director of Curriculum. If personal issues require a candidate to limit time commitments or otherwise alter the curriculum, individual arrangements may be made through the Director of Curriculum.

Issues relating to the “scope of practice” of Licensed Psychoanalysts, as addressed above in the section labeled “BOUNDARIES OF PROFESSIONAL COMPETENCE,” are addressed in a number of courses in the required curriculum. These courses will discuss practice by Licensed Psychoanalysts as defined by law and when consultation is required to rule out physical/mental causes. These courses include the following:

- Course 112 – Beginning the Treatment: Conceptual & Clinical Approaches
- Course 123 – The Problem of Technique
- Course 220 – Psychopathology: Issues of Diagnosis, Entity vs. Process and Character
- Course 231 – Ethics in Psychoanalytic Practice
- Course 312 – Working Psychoanalytically
- Course 410 – Faculty and Candidate Case Presentations of Psychoanalytic Clinical Process
- Course 411 – Neuroscience and Psychoanalysis
- Course 422 – Trauma and Dissociation
- Course 431 – Current Issues and Controversies
- Course 520 – Clinical Case Seminar (E. Singer)
- Course 521 – Clinical Case Seminar (Abramis)
- Course 522 – Clinical Case Seminar: Interpersonal and Relational Approaches to Countertransference (I. Hirsch)
- Course 531 – Countertransference: Clinical Case Seminar (L. Epstein)
- Course 613 – Integrating Interpersonal Psychoanalysis and Couples Therapy
- Course 620 – Current Research in Complex Psychopathology
- Course 621 – Comparative Models of Therapeutic Action
- Course 732 – Child Abuse Identification and Reporting

COURSE OF STUDY

The prescribed course of study includes requirements that exceed the New York State statutory requirements for a minimum of at least 1,350 clock hours of study in coursework, personal psychoanalysis, supervised psychoanalysis, and clinical experience, distributed as described above. The White Institute’s requirements in this registered program lead to qualification to sit for the licensing examination in psychoanalysis, although the responsibility for providing licensure is New York State’s alone.

COURSE SCHEDULE

Trimesters are 10 weeks long. The first trimester begins after Labor Day. The second trimester begins in November. The third trimester begins in March. Courses are not scheduled on Rosh Hashanah, Yom Kippur, and on the eve of Passover. There is a three week break from December to January. Additionally, the Institute is closed on all legal holidays.

CROSS-REGISTRATION IN OTHER INSTITUTE TRAINING PROGRAMS

Candidates in Division I are eligible to enroll in courses in the Institute’s Child & Adolescent Psychotherapy Training Program upon approval of an application to do so. Candidates seeking to cross-register must apply to the Director of Training who will convey this request to the Director of Training of the Child & Adolescent Psychotherapy Training Program, who will in turn confer with that Program’s Director of Curriculum and the course instructor.
Decisions will be made on an individual basis and will consider any issues relevant to the particular class and its composition.

No additional fees are charged for cross-registration.

GRIEVANCE PROCEDURE

The White Institute’s formal grievance policy provides that when a participant expresses a grievance (either orally or in writing) requesting that the Institute take action, the following procedures are followed:

1. If a grievance falls within the domain of the Division I curriculum, this grievance will be referred to the Institute’s standing Curriculum Committee. The Institute’s Director of Curriculum may address the complaint him/herself or may confer with other department Directors. Some grievances may eventually be brought to the Institute’s Executive Committee which will seek an equitable disposition of the grievance. The Executive Committee will formulate a response to the complaint and recommend action, if necessary. Such recommended action will be conveyed directly to the complainant by the Executive Committee, if appropriate.
The Institute will make every attempt to keep the complainant apprised of deliberations concerning the grievance and to attempt to ameliorate the difficulty.

2. If a grievance concerns the Institute’s clinical services, including a grievance expressed by a consumer of these services, the grievance shall be presented to the Institute’s Director of Clinical Services, who will investigate the complaint, consulting with the patient/consumer, the student, and the student’s Supervising Analyst or Supervisor of Psychotherapy. The Director of Clinical Services will consult with the Director of the Institute (on a confidential basis) to report all such grievances and, in collaboration with the Director, will formulate a response to the complainant.
When indicated, the Director and the Director of Clinical Services will seek the consultation of the Institute’s Executive Committee. The Director of Clinical Services will have the primary responsibility for monitoring the ethical conduct of clinical services by students and their supervisors. The complainant will be advised directly by the Director of Clinical Services of his/her investigation of the grievance and the Institute’s proposed resolution.
3. The Institute’s grievance policy requires that all grievances be addressed in a timely fashion. The Institute will seek legal counsel as indicated if grievances cannot be resolved informally. The student, consumer, or faculty member who initiated the grievance will then be informed of the status of his/her complaint at all levels of investigation and resolution. Confidential records of all grievances will be kept in a locked file in the White Institute’s Executive Offices and written copies of Grievance Procedures will be available upon request.
About Electives 2013-2014

After the fall trimester of their third year, Candidates no longer have a required Thursday evening class. Instead, along with the continuing Tuesday classes, the Institute requires that they complete five electives (or the equivalent) during their remaining third and fourth years. The premise of the requirement is that Candidates should be able to utilize the intellectual resources of the Institute flexibly and in accordance with individual interests.

Electives formally listed in the Bulletin are of two sorts: the 500-series Clinical Case Seminars, of which three are required; and the 600-series Elective Courses, of which two are required. Not all are offered each academic year, and some require a minimum number of participants. Appended below are those available for 2013-2014.

Candidates may select from available electives and take them in any sequence. Not infrequently, meeting times, frequency, and even trimester can be re-negotiated according to the needs of participants and instructors, and upon approval by the Director of Curriculum.

Elective equivalents can be arranged between Candidates and instructors, and must be pre-approved by the Director of Curriculum. There are several options: Elective Studies, Cross-Registrations, Mentored Independent Study, and an array of Specialized Services Elective Study.

The Elective Studies option permits a Candidate (or group of Candidates) to meet with a chosen tutor for an individual study project, either theoretical or clinical, thus permitting in-depth exploration of particular interests. (Non-credit seminars with times and fees by private arrangement with individual instructors are also possible.)

Cross-Registrations are permitted within the Institute and without, assuming the White Institute and an outside institute have an exchange agreement.

Within the Institute, to enroll in a course offered by the Child and Adolescent Psychotherapy Training Program, the Candidate should petition the Director of Training, through whose approval and that of the other program’s Director of Training, Director of Curriculum, and course Instructor registration for credit may be approved.

To take a course at another institute with which the White Institute has a reciprocal agreement, the Candidate should contact the Institute Registrar, who will have circulated information about available outside courses. Currently, the Institute has exchange agreements with the Institute for Psychoanalytic Education (IPE) of the School of Medicine of New York University; and with the Columbia University Center for Psychoanalytic Training and Research. Currently, IPE has no electives on offer; and by a University-wide policy, Columbia’s offerings are available only to post-doctoral candidates.

Mentored Independent Study provides guidance in bringing to fruition the writing of a psychoanalytic article suitable for publication. From the second year through the fourth year of training, the Candidate meets monthly with a chosen Faculty mentor to guide progress of the Candidate’s independent study of a psychoanalytic topic. The Candidate also selects two Faculty readers available for further support and input. The Director of Curriculum reviews the proposed topic, mentor, and readers by November 1st of the third year; by March 1st of the expected year of graduation, the completed article will have been sent to mentor, readers, and the Director of Curriculum. This equivalent 600-series course encourages creativity, risk-taking, and self-expression in the field of psychoanalytic literature.
Specialized Services Elective Study offers an equivalent 600-series credit for 3 years of attendance and participation at one of the Institute’s special services study groups. The Director of the Service and the Director of Curriculum must authorize participation for credit. Typically, these groups of graduates and Candidates meet once monthly to foster practical and theoretical learning. Currently meeting are the Autistic Spectrum Service; Eating Disorders, Compulsions & Addictions Service; Later Lifespan Development Service; LGBT Clinical Service; Later Lifespan Development Service; LGBT Clinical Service; Living With Medical Conditions Service; Psychoanalytic Psychotherapy for Artists; Sexual Abuse Service; and Trauma Service. These are described in more detail elsewhere in the Bulletin.

| 113        | E. Krimendahl, M. Zaphiropoulos | Clinic Fellowship Seminar
Tuesdays, 1:00 - 1:55 pm
For candidates participating in the clinic fellowship.
We will explore a number of questions in the treatment of our clinic patients: How can the clinician approach administrative issues (fee setting, medication, medical records, etc.) from a dynamic perspective? How can we establish rapport in the initial phase of treatment while organizing a developmental history and differential diagnosis? What are the treatment limits in our clinic? Candidates will present case material for discussion. |
| 120        | P. Blumberg | Developing Interpersonalism in Historical Context:
Sullivan, Thompson, Fromm and the Pioneers
Tuesdays, 7:15 - 8:30 p.m.
The goals of this course are essentially two-fold: an historical accounting of the ‘life and times’ of the founders of Interpersonal psychoanalysis with a view towards contextualizing their notions of theory and praxis in their lived lives; while at the same time, implicitly and explicitly orienting students to think more deeply about their own ‘lives and times’ and how those factors come to bear on their own developing personal metapsychologies. |
| 121        | J. Kwawer | Evolution of Psychoanalytic Concepts II:
Freud and The Evolution of Psychoanalytic Technique
Tuesdays, 8:45 - 10:00 p.m.
This course will study the historical evolution of the theory of psychoanalytic technique. Beginning with Freud’s technical papers, evolving ideas about classical psychoanalysis as a treatment method will be studied, highlighting the history of psychoanalysis and developing and ongoing controversies about psychoanalytic practice. Among the concepts explored are: “technical” considerations; the analytic attitude; transference and resistance; abstinence and neutrality; the role of interpretation; mutative factors in treatment; self-disclosure and countertransference; the clinical situation and personal interaction. |

<td>Clinical psychoanalytic technique has fallen on hard times. This is especially problematic for students endeavoring to learn how to conduct a psychoanalysis. This course surveys fundamental concepts in the clinical theory of psychoanalysis, with a focus on their demonstration in clinical practice and their unique value in effecting psychological change. Each week’s readings introduce a foundational tenet of clinical theory drawing from a dialectic between ego psychological and modern interpersonal theories. Class time will center on applying the clinical theory to the actual work of therapy using clinical material from the week’s work of the class members and the instructor.</td>

What the class experiences as it listens will be the matrix of discussion and, hopefully, will be related to relevant theoretical and clinical issues that broaden in scope as the seminar progresses. <td>Working Psychoanalytically&lt;br&gt;The purpose of this course is to examine and consolidate psychoanalytic thinking in its application both to short- and long-term clinical work, and in particular to work with &quot;difficult&quot; patients posing difficult treatment predicaments. Working psychoanalytically entails an awareness of transference, insight and working through, as well as an interpersonal engagement with patients in whatever ways they choose to present themselves. This way of working effectively integrates psychoanalysis and psychotherapy in a common interpersonal approach. Readings will frame problematic situations for class discussion; presentations of clinical examples by instructors and candidates will provide in vivo application.</td>

Dr. Lubart’s section of the seminar will focus on the historical and contemporary evolution of gender theory and its relevance to current psychoanalytic practice. We will cover gender-related issues as they arise in therapy, as well as selected themes in the psychoanalytic treatment of LGBT patients and families. Dr. Kolod’s section of the seminar will focus on the importance of sexuality in clinical work. We will explore the impact of the hormonal body on the psyche; how to inquire about the patient’s sexuality; and how sexually charged transference and countertransference reactions (such as erotic attraction and disgust) arise to become part of the therapeutic work.</td>

In this seminar, two senior psychoanalysts will present detailed clinical process material to demonstrate both their work and their conceptualizations of what is transpiring. Candidates will be encouraged to question, explore and critique the material. Candidates will also have the opportunity to present clinical material in response. There is no formal reading syllabus for this class, though readings may be assigned as the need arises.

The explosion of new data in neuroscience has made possible more detailed comparisons between specific brain and mind functions. Several areas will be explored with an eye on how neuroscience insights may enhance our psychoanalytic thinking.

This course covers the major contributions of important neo-Kleinians such as Bion, Hanna Segal, Betty Joseph, Ronald Britton and John Steiner, and explores post-Kleinian developments and issues such as contemporary understandings of the Paranoid-Schizoid, Depressive and Oedipal positions, therapeutic action and interaction, and the clinical use of projective identification. These contemporary Kleinian views will be compared and contrasted with interpersonal perspectives.

The focus of this seminar will be to read contemporary essays on trauma, dissociation, and treatment. All participants will be encouraged to reflect on the readings through the lens of their own work with traumatized patients.
Contemporary Freudian - Classical Positions

Tuesdays, 7:15 - 8:30 p.m.

Through readings, class discussions and a guest lecture this course will explore the defining aspects of present day Freudian theory and clinical practice. Contrasts to interpersonal/relational approaches will be emphasized.

Current Issues and Controversies

Tuesdays, 8:45 - 10:00 p.m.

Each week we will take up a current issue or controversy in the field and discuss a couple of articles that address it. These issues and controversies have been chosen for their current significance, which means that they are some of the issues and topics that analysts graduating now will be thinking about for at least the next few years. Since this course takes place in the final trimester of the fourth year, our discussions will be contextualized by the question of what it means in today’s world to be a psychoanalyst. What kind of practice can a graduate psychoanalyst expect to have? What kind of professional identity is desirable and possible? In exactly what sense are psychoanalytic ideas significant for the careers of graduate analysts? Some weeks will feature readings with two or more points of view about the same topic. Those topics include free association, the role of quantitative research in psychoanalysis, the question of how to define psychoanalysis in our current era of lower frequency treatment, the question of being the bad object or the good object, and the nature of termination. Other weeks will feature instead an examination of topics that seem bound to be interesting and important over the coming years. Those topics include witnessing in clinical practice, the non symbolic and the procedural in clinical process, and conceptions of otherness and the grasp of otherness in the consulting room.

Theoretical issues relating to how we use ourselves as analytic instrument, given our unconscious vulnerabilities, will also be explored, with special consideration of conceptions of the nature of therapeutic action, and how the choices we make in terms of how we respond (or not) at any given moment may open and close different analytic possibilities. Attention will also be paid to issues of “being” vs. “knowing” in the analytic encounter. Participants are encouraged to bring in clinical process if they would like to. |

Through the seminar participants’ collective examination of their presented clinical process, each will have the opportunity to explore the conscious clinical principles as well as the less formulated variables that inform work with patients. <td>Time and dates are negotiable. The purpose of this course is to give the analytic candidate a forum within which to consider what his or her favored concepts are, and how these preferences relate to their personal history. The course will also encourage open and frank discussions concerning how personal development necessarily shifts analytic preferences. The net goal of all this is to de-mystify and de-politicize theoretical allegiances for the clarity of the analyst and the ultimate benefit of the patient. A net gain of the course will be to highlight the analyst’s transference/countertransference relationship(s) to analytic theory, and how these relationships are witnessed in therapeutic action. To that end, clinical material will be presented to illuminate specific interactions among analyst, theory, and praxis.</td>

<td>This clinical seminar will identify and invite articulation of complex, &quot;taboo&quot; feelings about the analyst's physical self – including visible and invisible physical factors -- that patients may resist, dissociate, or deny. It is hoped that expressing such feelings in the context of the analytic relationship will galvanize unspoken and forbidden aspects of the negative transference/countertransference, and thus enliven and enrich the treatment. Technical problems will be addressed, and clinical discussion will pinpoint facets of individual analysts’ physicality that may be difficult to hear and discuss. Both instructors will use their ongoing written work in this arena, and candidates will also use clinical discussions to develop a written project of some sort; i.e., a blog, a paper, or an oral presentation.</td>

This course will examine the psychoanalytic literature on the dynamics of romantic love. We will consider definitions of and developmental precursors to romantic love as well as developmental trajectories that lead to difficulties in love relationships. We will examine the development of sexuality and attachment and its relationship to the development of a romantic object. Subjective dimensions of romantic love such as passion, desire and erotic experience as well as the role of fantasy within these will be examined. Finally, changes over time in long lasting love relationships will be addressed. Clinical examples will be presented. |

This course will focus upon the co-construction and experience of the termination phase of psychoanalysis and psychoanalytic psychotherapy. We will also consider issues involved in other kinds of endings as well, such as terminations due to a variety of external factors, or prolonged impasse. The course will address assessment of readiness (timing), characteristic issues which typically emerge for patient and analyst during the termination phase (e.g., mourning, regression, pride in and envy of growth and achievement, acceptance of limitation and imperfection, etc.), and questions around post-termination contact. Throughout, using clinical material, particular attention will be given to transference-countertransference dimensions of the termination process. |

The purpose of this course is to assess whether developing a research orientation towards clinical material will increase the range and scope of psychodynamic hypotheses about that material. The development of a research orientation involves enhancing awareness of the limitation of our knowledge and understanding of these clinical materials. Emphasis will be placed upon the tentativeness with which interventions should be made and the capacity to develop tolerance for uncertainty. Sessions for each patient discussed will be presented seriatim for four weeks each.

| 616  | R. Gaines   | Psychoanalytic Approaches to Supervision
| 1st Trimester | 10 sessions  | Tuesdays 1:30 - 3:00 p.m.

This course will be aimed at students who have had no formal training in supervision or have begun doing some supervision.

While there is no cohesive model of the supervisory process, it has been more thoroughly studied and conceptualized than many clinicians realize. This course will attempt to acquaint students with that work. This course will attempt to articulate an interpersonal/relational point of view. The main features of that point of view are an emphasis on the supervisory relationship as a collaborative endeavor, and an alertness to the ongoing experiences of both participants in the relationship and the way those experiences can facilitate or hinder learning.

This course will aim to acquaint students with the basic tools of the supervisor and to give them some experiential exposure to their own personally based biases, blind spots, strengths, and weaknesses as supervisors.

Tuesdays, 3:00 - 4:30 p.m.
When failure in the facilitating environment seems an inadequate explanation for the complexity and severity of a person’s psychopathology, having access to research may enhance the quest for meaning and understanding. This course will review current research about psychopathology including depressive disorders, bipolar disorders, and various combinations of affective disorders with anxiety, attention deficits, and personality disorders. Studies in biological psychiatry, clinical and neuropsychology research will be discussed. The focus will be on the reciprocal interaction of biological and psychological processes especially as it impacts psychoanalytic work (e.g. affect regulation, primitive defenses, object representations, counter-transference, etc.) with people who have severe and complex psychopathology. |

<td>Familiarity with Harold Searles' therapeutic sensibility has the effect of enhancing one's ability to use subjective affective experience in understanding treatment difficulties. This may, in turn, engender a growing feeling of confident functioning so important to the process of consolidating a therapeutic identity and personal therapeutic style. We will be exposed to Searles' creative mind where developmental thinking is closely tied to clinical understandings and interventions that are unique in the analytic literature. Anticipating multiple self-state theory is Searles' interest in bi-lateral dissociative experience and the inevitable enactments that lead to their explication. He contends that patient's impressions of the analyst are rooted in some dissociated &quot;not me&quot; reality concerning the analyst's personality or self-state and that waking the analyst from this dissociated slumber is pre-requisite to growth on the part of both participants. Within his non-dogmatic integration of internal object-relations theory with inter-personal theory as but two sides of one coin, familiarity with his work contributes to candidate's self-consolidating access to inner process in the face of the inevitable vicissitudes of the treatment situation.</td>

Time and dates to be arranged with instructor

The goal of this course is to establish a rudimentary knowledge of Lacan’s theory and clinical approach (Lacanian 101) in order to provide a point of difference (for us) from which to view Freud and psychoanalysis in America, and thereby to bring into focus assumptions that would otherwise remain unquestioned (at least in these unique ways). Some of Lacan’s seminal texts from Ecrits and The Four Fundamental Concepts of Psychoanalysis are studied in detail, with the help of accompanying explanations and commentaries by Fink, Zizek, and Winnicott. The expectation is to familiarize ourselves with the language and way of thinking, enough to seem conversant only for the uninitiated, but acknowledging that we could converse haltingly in broken Lacanian to those educated in this mindset. It is hoped, however, that this Lacanian primer will help us expand our psychoanalytic horizons, not just as American psychoanalysts but also as interpersonalists in particular.

| 634         | L. Robin     | 3rd Trimester                   | The Inner Life of the Analyst
Fridays, 10:00 am – 11:45 am

Myriad human struggles confront the psychoanalyst over time. Feelings of vulnerability, greed, ambition, competitiveness, longing, and insecurity impinge on clinical work and professional development, but typically remain unexplored in published material and training program curricula.

I propose that neither metapsychology nor clinical theory provide sufficient framework to account for this personal idiom of the psychoanalyst’s endeavor. It is therefore necessary to distinguish expectable personal human vagaries from those that arise in the context of the clinical situation (i.e., countertransference, enactment, projective identification, etc.). Participation in this course will familiarize candidates with key papers – both classic and contemporary – that address the human internality of the psychoanalyst. To facilitate exploration, readings are grouped into three categories: The Analyst’s Growth, The Analyst’s Transparency, and The Analyst’s Personal Life Factors. Participants are free to share clinical material from their own work as a way to deepen understanding of the readings, but our focus will be to discuss the assigned material and the concomitant issues that arise.
Winncott's Search for Himself as Clinician
Time and dates to be arranged with instructor

Psychoanalytic ideas flourish in a variety of ways: through careful attention to accumulated clinical data over time, observations of child development, open discourse with extra-analytic disciplines, accommodation to shifting cultural trends. But innovative theories also form externalized symbolic structures reflecting the theorist's own self. They can be efforts at self cure. Using Winnicott as illustration, the elective explores how Winnicott's theory mirrors his own subjectivity. Participants will read together passages from Winnicott's private correspondences, autobiographical notebook, and public talks to consider the link between his life and theory.

This introductory course in psychopathology and differential diagnosis (requiring multiple brief class presentations and write-ups) addresses the use of the American Psychiatric Association’s Diagnostic and Statistical Manual (“DSM”). Guided by DSM, schizophrenia and bipolar disorders are diagnosed with regard to symptom profiles and course of illness. The complexity of affective spectrum disorders (including bipolar II, bipolar depression, and mixed states) is approached from several orientations: biological psychiatry, epidemiology, and early psychoanalytic models. Various models of affective spectrum disorder in the psychoanalytic literature are discussed in understanding unipolar depression. Anxiety Disorders (including Obsessive Compulsive Disorders and Post Traumatic Stress Disorder) illustrate psychoanalytic theories of anxiety. The complex domain of Personality Disorders is approached from a descriptive and psychoanalytic perspective. The diagnosis and treatment of patients who are actively suicidal, self-mutilating or in other ways actively self-destructive is also addressed.

This one-year practicum will involve each candidate doing a specified number of two-session intake interviews in the Institute’s Clinical Services, with a supervisor present for the first several interviews, primarily as an observer. The candidate will write a report on each case and will also participate in a weekly group supervision with Karen Marisak, Ph.D. The supervisory group will meet weekly for the first trimester, with the possibility of a decreased frequency for the latter two trimesters, but continuing at least on a monthly basis.

Electives can be taken in any order beginning in the 3rd year of training.

Non-credit Courses

Other Case Seminars can be arranged by a small group of candidates with a training supervisor of its choice. Times and fees are by private arrangement with individual instructors.
Psychotherapy with Artists

Treatment Services for People in the Arts invites candidates to participate in an elective that should help them to become more familiar with the specific life and career issues that are typical for people in the performing and creative arts.

The Program consists of a group of Institute graduates who meet every first Thursday of the month from 1:30 p.m. until 3 p.m. to review pertinent literature, discuss cases or meet with artists for an exchange of ideas. Candidates who participate may request artist patient referrals and individual supervision from members of the Artists Program. Participating regularly in the seminar for several years would then count as one elective.

The Mentored Program for Independent Study

Beginning in the second year of training and continuing into the fourth, every candidate will be offered the opportunity to work closely with a member of the Teaching Faculty of Division I (mentor) in pursuing the scholarly study of a psychoanalytic topic of his or her choosing. The candidate and mentor will meet monthly to discuss and guide the progress of the candidate’s independent study, which will culminate in the preparation of a short scholarly article. The article should be suitable for publication in a psychoanalytic journal or for presentation at a national conference, and may be submitted for the Kaufman Award.

Candidates will choose a mentor from anyone on the Teaching Faculty of Division I other than their personal analyst. The candidates will also select two “readers” who will be available to provide additional guidance, support, and scholarly input during all phases of the independent study. The selection of topic, mentor, and readers will be reviewed by the Chair of the Curriculum Committee by November 1st of the third year. Copies of the completed article must be sent to the mentor, the two readers, and the Chair of the Curriculum Committee by March 1st of the year of expected graduation.

This program was developed so as to make the resources of the Institute available in a structured way to candidates who have the desire to write. It is designed to encourage creativity, risk-taking, and self-expression; and to provide the opportunity for candidates to further develop themselves as writers in a field where writing contributes greatly to theoretical and clinical understanding.

The equivalent of one course at the 600 level will be offered to candidates who complete the program.

Special Services Elective Study

Participation in one of the Special Services will be credited as a 600-series elective, since it offers both practical and theoretical learning. This will make it easier for candidates to join such Services considering their time constraints.

The candidate will attend the meeting for three years and will notify the Curriculum Committee at the start. The Director of the Service will authorize the candidate’s participation in this option.
DIVISION II
THE CENTER FOR APPLIED PSYCHOANALYSIS (CAPsa)
Lori Bohm, Ph.D., Director

GENERAL INFORMATION
The Center for Applied Psychoanalysis of the Institute offers courses to qualified professionals who wish to increase their familiarity and remain up to date with psychoanalytic concepts. Emphasis is placed on dynamic concepts and processes derived from the interpersonal approach to psychoanalysis; however, other psychoanalytic points of view are also valued and taught.

Most of the courses are open to psychoanalysts, psychiatrists, psychologists, social workers, behavioral scientists, physicians, clergy, counselors, and psychiatric nurses. Some are restricted to individuals engaged in direct clinical work or who are mental health professionals eligible to be New York State licensed in a profession that includes psychotherapy in its “scope of practice”. The Program Coordinator is available to answer questions about admission requirements, course content, and related issues.

The William Alanson White Institute admits students of any race, color, gender, sexual orientation, national and ethnic origin to all the rights and privileges, programs and activities generally accorded or made available to students at the school. It does not discriminate against any Institute community member or participant on the basis of age, race, color, gender, disability status, height, weight, marital status, sexual orientation, national origin, ethnic origin, or veteran status in administration of its educational policies.

No certificates are awarded to students taking courses in the Center for Applied Psychoanalysis. Students wishing to obtain credit for continuing education will receive a letter stating that they have fulfilled the attendance requirements spelled out by their respective professional organizations.

REGISTRATION
Registration forms can be obtained on the Institute website at www.wawhite.org. Courses may be canceled because of insufficient registration, in which case all fees are refunded.

FEES
Fees are payable in advance. Admission to courses will be authorized only when all fees and previous indebtedness is discharged. Refund requests must be made at least three days prior to the CAPsa offering.

PREREQUISITES
Graduation from a recognized professional school or other evidence of professional training is required. Admission to each course is subject to approval of the course instructor(s).

Intensive Psychoanalytic Psychotherapy Program (IPPP) is one of the offerings of the Center for Applied Psychoanalysis. A special brochure is available describing this educational offering.

SPECIAL PROGRAMS
Special Seminar Options (Groups of 10 or more)
The Center for Applied Psychoanalysis is available to schedule One-Week seminars on specific topics if requested by groups of ten or more. Requests for these special seminars should be addressed in writing to: Director, The Center for Applied Psychoanalysis, The William Alanson White Institute, 20 West 74th Street, New York, NY 10023.

Agency Caseworker Staff Development
A unique opportunity for and limited to agencies who want on-site staff development and education. The specific area of need will be defined by the agency.

One-Week Seminar Program: The Interpersonal Approach to Psychoanalysis
One annual five day intensive course maybe offered each semester by the senior faculty. It is designed to acquaint colleagues throughout the United States and abroad with the Interpersonal approach to psychoanalysis. This program usually consist of two didactic seminars per day as well as a daily case seminar. Each of the sessions is scheduled for two hours. Lunch is provided. The program may be modified to suit special group needs.

While topics are somewhat open to change, they typically include: History of the Interpersonal Approach; Key Concepts in Interpersonal Psychoanalysis; The Self, Personal and Interpersonal; Transference and Countertransference; Treatment of the Borderline Patient; Interpersonal Approaches to Character and Diagnosis, and others.

Participants can use the case seminars for presenting their own clinical material. The instructor is also available to make his or her own case presentation.

Individual supervision by faculty members is available to participants in the seminar. Arrangements for supervision must be made on an individual basis.

Supervision Fee, per session (paid directly to supervisor) - $60.

CAPsa OnLine
CAPsa offers distance learning continuing professional education courses. Distance learning is similar to what takes place in other workshops and seminars. Participants listen to lectures, read, write, and think independently about the subject being studied, and interact “online” with the other students and with the teachers. The lectures are audiotaped and the participants “attend” classes by using their computers and the Internet.

For more information and registration form please contact:
