Evolution of Psychoanalytic Concepts II

William Alanson White Institute
Winter/Spring 2019

David Rappaport, Ph.D.
347-886-2206 dr.rappaport1905@gmail.com

Class One: Contemporary Freudian Psychoanalysis: Introduction and Overview

Class Two: Establishing and Holding the Frame.

Freud, S. (1912). Recommendations to physicians practicing psychoanalysis. SE:12, 121-144

Freud, S. (1913). On begging the treatment (further recommendations on the technique of psychoanalysis). SE: 12,121-144.

Class Three: Freud’s Conceptions of Transference and its Relation to Technique

Classes Four Five and Six: Modern Discussions of Neutrality and Transference Analysis

Class Four

Class Five:

Bird, B. (1972). Notes on transference: universal phenomena and hardest part of analysis. JAPA, 20 267-301

Class Six

Classes Seven, Eight, and Nine Resistance:

Class: Seven

Class Eight:

Class Ten:

Classes Eleven, Twelve, and Thirteen: Loewald’s Elaborations of Freudian Technique.

Class Eleven:

Class Twelve:

Class Thirteen:

Class Fourteen: Conflict and Deficit.

Class Fifteen: Termination